A NERVOUS WRECK

From Three Years' Suffering, Says Cardui Made Her Well.

Texas City, Tex.—In an interesting statement, Mrs. G. H. Schill, of this town, says: "For three years I suffered untold agony with my head. I was unable to do any of my work."

I just wanted to sleep all the time, for that was the only ease I could get, when I was asleep. I became a nervous wreck just from the awful suffering with my head.

I was so nervous that the least noise would make me jump out of my bed. I had no energy, and was unable to do anything. My son, a young boy, had to do all my household duties.

I was not able to do anything until I took Cardui. I took three bottles in all, and it surely cured me of those awful headaches. That has been three years ago, and I know the cure is permanent, for I have never had any headache since taking Cardui.

Nothing relieved me until I took Cardui. It did wonders for me."

Try Cardui for your troubles—made from medicinal ingredients recommended in medical books as being of benefit in female troubles, and 40 years of use has proven that the books are right. Begin taking Cardui today.

"POOR RICH BOY" HAPPY AT LAST

Youthful New York Millionaire Is Now Assured Place to Eat and Sleep.

TOO MANY FATHERS

Adoption Finally Set Aside After William Had Changed Hands So Often He Was Bewildered—Now on Farm.

New York.—Too many fathers, too many guardians and too many lawyers, all because he had too many dollars, are no longer causes to worry William Crossman Mills Lee Mills, the "poor little rich boy." Even the news that he has beaten a lawyer's claim for $40,000 failed to interest the youngster, because for the first time in his young life he is reasonably certain where he will sleep and eat. The lad is living at Batavia, N. Y., with a private tutor, spending less than $10,000 a year of the income from his $1,113,000 fortune.

Although legally in the custody of DeWitt Lyon, William is actually in custody of his uncle, Herman Crossman, who is even richer than his young nephew and has a fine estate near Monroe, N. Y. When the lad is not at Batavia with his tutor, he is at the Crossman estate, where there are horses and dogs galore, and a youngster can have the time of his life.

Troubles Began Early.

William's troubles began several years ago, with the divorce of his parents, William Mills, Jr., and Mrs. Georgia Crossman Mills, daughter of George W. Crossman, the "coffee king." The boy was left in his mother's custody. Mrs. Mills married T. Frederick Lee. When Mrs. Lee died more than three years ago, the trust estate left by her father went to the boy. The lad's own father came East from Venice, Cal., and learned that his son had been adopted legally by the stepfather. Mills immediately began suit to have the adoption set aside and gain possession of the boy.

Habeas corpus writs, injunctions, appeals and other legal actions followed each other rapidly. The boy changed hands so fast he became bewildered.

"I don't care who has me," he whimpered on the witness stand. "I just want to stay in one place and be quiet and let alone."

Adoption Set Aside.

The adoption finally was ordered set aside after 17 separate actions had been brought. The father announced he did not desire to handle a dollar of his son's fortune but objected strenuously to have the money pass into Lee's custody. A little more than a year ago the father died. There was an action pending to determine the right of custody between Lyon and Lee, but, with the death of Mills, Lyon turned the boy over to Crossman and the "poor rich boy" is happy at last.

Once upon a time there was a land-lord who overlooked ye first of ye month.—Illinois State Journal.

"For six years we have used Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin in our family and feel we could not possibly do without it, especially for the children." (From a letter to Dr. Caldwell written by Mrs. Earl Cowell, Cement City, Mich.)

Children become constipated as readily as do their elders, and the result is equally distressing. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is ideal for children because of its pleasant taste, positive, yet gentle, action, and its freedom from opiates and narcotic drugs.

Cats Destroy Birds.

Cats occasionally catch a mouse, but not often. They prefer birds. The obnoxious sparrows are too alert for them, and so their accustomed feathered prey is song birds and other species valuable to man because they are insect destroyers. Fledgling young of such birds, in the nest, are destroyed in immense numbers by cats. Painstaking study of the subject has convinced me that the average cat captures at least 50 birds per annum—Exchange.
